SCIENTISTS FIND BONES PREHISTORIC ANIMALS

It is an acknowledged fact that Humboldt county is one of the greatest mineral sections in the state, with almost every variety in the category of metals, besides sulphur, borax, salt, nitre, soda, gypsum and many of the precious stones as well. Now comes the news of great fossil beds having been discovered near the Oregon line. Lindsay Denio, who arrived in town a few days ago from Pueblo valley, stated to a representative of this paper that there were a number of professors and students from some college in California now in Virgin valley, in the vicinity of Thousand creek, inspecting the great petrified forest and fossil beds in that section.

Mr. Denio stated that the party had some very interesting specimens of petrified bones of prehistoric animals and among the lot of specimens were the skulls of animals resembling an elephant and rhinoceros, besides the bones of animals not found in this country at the present period. These fossil specimens are being shipped to California, where they will be placed in a museum.

Thousand creek is a very interesting section of Humboldt county for it is there that Mr. Denio and associates located a deposit of opals that has the promise of exceeding anything of the kind ever found in the United States. The stones found there are very beautiful, being of almost every variety of opals, including black opals that have beautiful scintillating fire. These opal beds lie between deposits of lignite coal. In that section, large samples of amber have been found and the petrified trees found there are so large that they are wonders to behold. Virgin valley is situated in an isolated section of this county, bordering on the Oregon line, and is a veritable wonderland and paradise for curiosity seekers.—Humboldt Star.

BRING GOOD NEWS FROM OLD IONE

George Schrader is in from the Ione country and brings with him some flattering reports of that section and its possibilities as a producer through placer operations. Mr. Schrader has been operating in the Ione country for quite a while. He seems confident that in the no distant future it will make itself felt in the mining world.

Ione is one of the old camps of the state. In the early days it produced much wealth and was reckoned one of the premier camps of the state. It was in fact the first county seat of Nye county. It is a section of wonderful possibilities. Within a stone's throw lies the old camp of Grantsville, while Berlin, which has been and is now a prolific producer, is within sight of the old camp.

UNLAWFUL TO CATCH OVER TWENTY FISH

For the benefit of those sportsmen who may not have a copy of the game laws, as amended at the last session of the legislature, an individual is allowed to catch not to exceed twenty fish in one day, and these must be used by the individual who catches them or else sold directly to the consumer, though no fish under six inches in length can be offered for sale. It is unlawful to use fish or wild game for speculative purposes.

WATER SUIT.

The water suit of Tognini against Irwin continues to occupy the attention of the district court. It will be several days before the matter is finally disposed of.
